

Victoria Heath joined EIRIS in 2003. She is responsible for focusing on the client-side launch of new areas of research and products, senior client relationship management and providing innovative and sustainable solutions for new and existing clients. Her main client focus at EIRIS is on charities, charity fund managers, religious organisations, wealth managers and clients in Ireland. Victoria is on the editorial board of Wealth Briefing. She speaks at a wide range of industry events and has appeared in the FT and other publications. She has many years' experience of account management, sales and marketing, and project management within the SRI, IT and financial sectors. Victoria is a graduate of the London School of Economics.